Below is a transcript of the City Manager's presentation of that statement:

Transcript:

"El Segundo is an important partner to the Hyperion Water Reclamation Plant and Los Angeles' work to combat climate change, modernize infrastructure and ensure that our communities and beaches are clean and safe. The poor communication and partnership that El Segundo has experienced is unacceptable and we are committed to locking arms with Mayor Boyles and the City Council to ensure there is clear, transparent communication and accountability as we set expectations for the next chapter at Hyperion. As we move beyond the impacts from historic rainfall last month, I am directing my office and L.A. Sanitation to work closely with El Segundo's leadership to consider organizational improvements, resources, and outside expertise to ensure Hyperion maintains peak performance and communicates clearly with our neighbors in El Segundo – City of Los Angeles Mayor Karen Bass."
